ONERESPONSE

One Response was founded by a military veteran who identified a critical gap in the public safety ecosystem — the need for a professional, scalable, and immediately deployable capability that sits between government and traditional volunteer models. Built on real-world operational experience, we exist to support communities and agencies with timely, effective response when it matters most.

One Response is a global company that transcends state and international borders. We maintain a permanent presence in Australia, the United Kingdom, the United States, with partner locations in Europe, the Middle East, and the Pacific.

Our vision is simple: to train people to save themselves, and rescue those who can't.

Our People

Our team is made up of military veterans and former emergency management professionals who bring decades of frontline experience. We understand high-pressure environments, complex incidents, and the importance of disciplined, reliable support. This shared background underpins our culture of professionalism, accountability, and service.

Edward Andrews – Managing Director

Former Royal Australian Navy serviceman with international experience delivering disaster and environmental response operations, including under UN frameworks. Brings strong leadership across aviation, logistics, and emergency operations.

Nate Chelley – Director Services

Former Fire and Rescue NSW firefighter and training officer with 20+ years across emergency services, safety, and training. Expert in large-scale capability delivery, risk, and compliance.

Meegan Olding – Strategic Advisor

30-year Australian Army veteran specialising in logistics and strategic planning. Has deployed globally across multiple operations and worked in the Pentagon, bringing deep experience in complex, multi-agency environments.

Scott Summers – Head of Flying Operations

Highly experienced military and civilian rotary-wing pilot with global operational deployments. Leads aviation capability, safety, and compliance aligned with international standards.

Our Capabilities

We deliver an integrated suite of training and response capabilities, including specialised facilities, aviation assets, UAV and drone operations, high-clearance vehicles, and swift water rescue. As a Registered Training Organisation, we also provide nationally recognised training that builds capability before, during, and after incidents. Key capabilities include:

- Military-style training for defence, government, emergency services, and industry
- Global training delivery across Australia, the USA, and the UK
- 24/7 Operations Centre with integrated command, aviation, and field coordination
- Deployable capability for complex, high-risk, and disaster response operations
- Aviation support, aircrew readiness, and search and rescue (SAR) operations
- RPAS/drone capability for ISR, SAR, and disaster assessment
- Swift water rescue and specialist rescue operations
- First aid, tactical medical, and emergency response training
- Survival and resilience training for remote and austere environments
- Security advisory and risk management through Multisec Consultancy
